

context of confrontation, protection from threats reflects the essence of "security" incompletely. It is also inappropriate to consider financial security as a certain quality or characteristic of the system (its state), such definitions are characteristic of static systems and do not take into account the dynamics of internal and external interactions. Accordingly, analyzing the essence of the concept of "financial security of the state", it is proposed to apply the definition of "conditions of the system", which takes into account the interaction of the studied system with the external environment and complex internal processes.

It is noted that based on the reasonable content of the concept of "financial security of the state", a list of elements of effective financial security should be formed, including: scientific theory of financial security of the state; financial security institutions (national and international); strategy and tactics of financial security; the concept and doctrine of financial security of the state; system of indicators of financial security; analytical information on the state of financial security.

The modern conversion of the current legislation in the security sphere is analyzed, which still remains far from perfect (lack of the legally approved concept of "financial security") regulation, control systems).
